

Infectious Diseases Research Institute Webinar Series

Infection Prevention and Infectious Disease Surveillance Systems in a Pandemic

Thursday, 28 January 2021

Via Zoom

03:00 PM - 04:00 PM

The talk will provide an insight into activation of Infection Prevention medical teams to oversee preventive measures at hospitals and discuss development of new and management of existing surveillance systems during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Click here to register

CME , CPE Points will be awarded subject to SMC,
SNB event approval

Speaker Details

Infection Prevention during a Pandemic

Dr. Ling Moi Lin

*Director, Dept. of Infection Prevention and Epidemiology, SGH
Director of Infection Prevention, SingHealth*

- President, Infection Control Association (Singapore) and APSIC
- Member, WHO Infection Prevention and Control Research and Development Expert Group for COVID-19
- Trainer, Infection Prevention and Control, Quality Improvement, LEAN and patient safety

Infectious Disease Surveillance Systems in a Pandemic

Dr. Indumathi Venkatachalam

Consultant, Dept. Infectious Diseases and Dept. of Infection Prevention & Epidemiology, SGH

- Developed syndromic, disease specific, integrated surveillance systems to take timely preventative measures against infectious disease threats.
- Expertise in epidemiology and prevention of emerging and multidrug resistant bacterial and vaccine preventable infections